

Jenny (Cockwell)

Pattern 1: Je-en-ny don-cha Je-en-ny Je-en-ny don-cha Je-en-ny

Pattern 2: ohh Je-en-ny don-cha ohh ohh oh-oh-ohh

All: Jenny don't you go down to the club tonight
You're better off in town where all the lights are bright
Don't do it, don't go down that dark alley way
'cos they always play the same records and, the people there are two faced

(Low:Patt. 1, alt/high: Patt. 2)

Middle: Jenny don't you go down to the club again
They'll leave you outside in the pouring rain
Don't do it, stay here where its safe with your friends(h/a/l: Ahhh)
'Cos there's (high/alt: in harmony) so many ways it can start but, there's only one way to end

Refrain:

But there's (high/alt: in harmony) no telling you girl, (Low: ah-ah-ah, oh Jenny)

You're striding down the street in your own little world you,

All: Left them all behind so you could go there on your own
'cos you think you're heading for a place you can call home
(H/a: Think. You're. Heading for a place called home)

Jenny watch your back as you step through the door
They've done it so many times who'll notice one more Don't do it, don't think that they won't get you first 'cos late at night the knives come out and the other girls are the worst

But there's no telling you girl,
You're striding down the street in your own little world you,
Left them all behind so you could go there on your own
'cos you think you're heading for a place you can call home think you're heading for a place you can call home and you sink down to the underground all alone oh-oh-oh-one

Jenny don't you go down to the club tonight
Jenny don't you go down to the club tonight
Jenny don't you go down to the club tonight
Jenny don't you go down to the club tonight
Oh Jenny
Don't you go Jenny
Oh Jenny
Don't you go Jenny
Oh Jenny
